Prerequisite(s) 1.0 from: Sociology 1020, 1021E, 1025A/B, 1026F/G, 1027A/B.
Antirequisite(s): Sociology 2245.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
In this course, we explore the idea that health and illness cannot be understood simply as biological phenomena or individual medical issues. Instead, we must consider broad societal influences, from structural and cultural to political and economic forces. In the first part of the course, we will study social causes, correlates, and consequences of health and illness. We will explore how social structures and inequalities with respect to social class, age, gender, race, etc., impact the patterns of health and illness in Canada and worldwide. In the second part of the course, we will examine how people experience illness, analyze the roles of the patients and health care providers and their interactions, and discuss the basics of health care systems in Canada and globally from a sociological perspective. Issues surrounding health and health care are at the forefront of economic, social, and political discourse in most countries around the world. The overarching goal of this course is to help you become a better informed citizen with respect to health and health-care issues by analyzing health and medical institutions sociologically.

LEARNING OUTCOMES
At the completion of the class, students will be able to • Provide a broad overview of the field of medical sociology
• Understand the links between social factors and health
• Appreciate how age, sex, race/ethnicity, social class, and other sociodemographic characteristics shape health and illness over the lifecourse
• Explain major historical and current issues related to medical institutions, the medical professions, and health care in Canada
• Critically evaluate the how a society’s views on health and medical care fit within its broader cultural and structural perspectives.
CLASS STRUCTURE
The classes will combine lectures with some student participation, individual and group exercises, in-group discussions, and active documentary viewing. In order to participate in the class, students are expected to complete all assigned readings prior to the class.

REQUIRED MATERIALS
- Additional readings as posted on OWL

There is no extra credit. Please work consistently throughout the semester. The timing, quantity, and types of assessment are carefully chosen to give you timely feedback on your performance and to draw on a broad spectrum of your skills and strengths.

- Class preparation and participation (10% of the final grade). Before we discuss a new chapter, you will answer an easy question or two based on all assigned readings for that week. I will, especially early in the semester, provide a guide to possible questions so you know what to expect. The question(s) will be answered in writing at the beginning of some or all classes. I may also do occasional writing exercises in class as we work through text or discussions and collect those for points. The rationale behind this part of your grade is to come to class prepared. You are of course not expected to master the material prior to the lecture, only to read the texts so you are primed to absorb the material optimally, and ask questions about challenging issues.
- Short written assignments (30% of the final grade). There will be 3 assignments during the semester, each worth a third of the 30% total. In order to ensure fair grading, late work will not be accepted. The assignment may be a few mini-essay/short answer items, or a short (about 10-slide) PowerPoint on an assigned topic, or a 1-2-page reflection as assigned. The aim of this item is to encourage you to think more deeply about select issues and practice writing in a low-stakes non-exam setting.
- Midterm exam (25% of the final grade). The test may include a combination of short-essay (1-2 paragraphs) items, fill-in-the-blank, definitions, multiple choice, and/or true/false items.
- Final exam (35% of the final grade). A cumulative test, with greater emphasis on material covered since the midterm. The format will be similar to the midterm.

SOC 2246 POLICIES

What if I miss deadlines?
Due dates for the assignments will be posted on OWL. Late assignments may not be accepted. They will be penalized at the rate of 10 percent of the assignment value per day late. Any assignment not received within 5 days of the due date will not be accepted except with appropriate documentation.

Do I need to attend classes?
Regular class attendance is essential to learning at the university level. I strongly encourage you to come to class regularly in order to maximize your opportunities to learn. Students are responsible for all announcements, lecture notes, and activities we cover in class even if they have a valid reason to miss a class. If you miss a class, please contact your classmates to obtain information about the class. Attending lectures AND doing all assigned readings is a necessary (though not sufficient) condition for earning a high grade in this class.

What can I have with me on exams? Or Policies on Examinations
Only pen or pencil is allowed for mid-term and final tests. Calculators or electronic devices of any sort are not allowed. Note that computer-marked multiple-choice tests and/or exams will be subject to submission for similarity review by software that will check for unusual coincidences in answer patterns that may indicate cheating.

What if I have questions about the class or my performance?
You can contact your teaching team (instructor and/or T.A.) via email. We strongly encourage you to do so as soon as questions or problems arise so we can work with you to help. You can expect replies within 24 hours during regular work days or 48 on weekends. We will aim to answer faster than that. Please make sure to write “SOC 2246” in the subject line – if you don’t, we may neglect to notice and answer it in a timely manner.

What’s expected of me in class?
Regular class attendance is essential to learning at the university level, especially in a course like this one, where considerable practice of important concepts occurs in the classroom, and where each element of the course serves as a building block for what follows. I strongly encourage you to come to class regularly in order to maximize your opportunities to learn. Appropriate behavior is expected of all students, in order to facilitate a supportive learning environment. Any activities not related to the class material must be conducted outside of the classroom, including any online networking, or in-person communication. Cell phones must be turned off and no conversation or texting is acceptable. Please consider reading this short post on professors’ pet peeves regarding student communication – I can tell you it’s spot-on:
What is the policy on electronics in class?
Laptops are permitted in class for note-taking and possible other approved in-class use. However, if a student is observed browsing the web including social networking sites such as Facebook or Twitter, they may be reprimanded, asked to close the device, or possibly even asked to leave the class. Even if you feel you can still follow the class while browsing, such behavior can be disruptive to those around you and disrespectful to the class. Please make sure that your cell phones are turned off at the beginning of class; beeping and ringing distracts your colleagues and is impolite in a classroom setting.

How do I communicate with my teaching team?
You correctly expect that your teaching team treats you with respect and in a professional manner. We expect the same from students. Please make sure your email communication is professional and fairly formal. Emails to your teaching team are NOT like texting your friends – please be polite and use correct spelling and grammar.
A nice perspective from the New York Times on student emails is here. Embedded in the article is the handout sheet on email etiquette by Dr. Worthen at University of North Carolina.
Please make sure to write “SOC 2246” in the subject line – if you don’t, we may neglect to notice and answer it in a timely manner. (yes, I did write it just above – but it bears repeating)

What if I miss a class?
If you are absent from a class, two rules apply:

1) Do not email your teaching team
2) Do get notes and all information from your classmates. You are responsible to keep up with the class. I will post most key information on OWL but make sure you talk to your colleagues in advance and ask them to take notes for you.

GENERAL UNIVERSITY-WIDE POLICIES

Note Regarding Plagiarism
Students must write their assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major scholastic offence (the Scholastic Offence Policy can be viewed in the Western Academic Calendar).

Plagiarism Checking:
All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (www.turnitin.com).
Policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness
Western’s policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness can be found at Students must see the Academic Counsellor and submit all required documentation in order to be approved for certain accommodation:
http://counselling.ssc.uwo.ca/procedures/medical_accommodation.html

Accessibility Options:
Please contact the course instructor if you require material in an alternate format or if you require any other arrangements to make this course more accessible to you. You may also wish to contact Services for Students with Disabilities (SSD) at 519 661-2111 x 82147 for any specific question regarding an accommodation. Information regarding accommodation of exams is available on the Registrar’s website:
www.registrar.uwo.ca/examinations/accommodated_exams.html

Scholastic Offences
Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following web site:
www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

Mental Health
Students who are in emotional/mental distress should refer to Mental Health @Western (http://uwo.ca/health/mental_wellbeing/index.html) for a complete list of options how to obtain help.
