SOC 4486G-001: SOCIAL DETERMINANTS OF POPULATION HEALTH

Class meets Wednesdays 9:30-12:30 in SSC 5430

Instructor: Dr. Anna Zajacova
Email: anna.zajacova@uwo.ca
Office: SSC 5330
Office hours: Tuesday 11:30-12:30 and Wednesday 12:30-2:30 pm

COURSE DESCRIPTION:
The social environment has a central role in shaping patterns of health and longevity within and across populations. This seminar will explore key social determinants of health including socioeconomic status, demographic characteristics, social relationships, and the broader social context. We will discuss the complex processes, such as stress and access to resources, through which these social factors “get under the skin” and impact health across the life course. At the completion of this class, students will have a solid foundation of theoretical and methodological approaches to population health and an appreciation of the current state of research related to the population health disparities.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:
- To understand how social factors influence health and shape health inequalities in populations.
- To consider the complex social responses to health and illness issues
- To strengthen the ability to read complex theoretical and empirical papers and incorporate their arguments into a unified understanding of discussed topics.
- To improve students’ writing skills through systematic writing exercises and final research paper.
- To develop critical thinking and evaluation skills to analyze complex social arrangements related to health and medicine.
- To gain expert knowledge in one (student-selected) topic of interest, and the ability to transmit this knowledge to educated audience.

COURSE STRUCTURE:
This senior-level seminar requires attendance during all class sessions. The classes will be mostly discussion-based; therefore, students are expected to complete all required reading prior to class in order to fully participate. Students will be asked to summarize papers, integrate their arguments with discussed materials, and pose questions from the readings. The instructor will provide brief lectures to supplement reading materials.

REQUIRED BOOKS:
GRADING:

• Regular (about weekly) “prep” writing (15%). To help you read new material and prepare for the class discussion, I will email you some questions about the readings to answer during the week before class. These will be relatively straightforward questions and their point will not be to demonstrate mastery of the material but rather to begin thinking about it and incorporate the new material to older topics.

• Class participation (20%). Attendance during all class sessions is an important part of this seminar. All students are expected to actively participate in discussions. Additionally, I may pose questions to be answered in writing during the class to encourage active listening and processing. That means you will have had to do all reading beforehand so you can pose questions, actively talk through difficult issues, etc.

• Regular (about weekly) “reaction” writing (25%). After class, I will assign more complex questions for you to discuss. These will be about one-two page reaction pieces. Their aim is to solidify your understanding of the material we’ve discussed in class, as well as to practice writing skills.

• Independent research project, presentation, and paper (40%). At the end of the semester, each student will become an expert on one topic of their choice. Students will select a topic (with my help and approval), collect readings, learn the current state of knowledge, and write a paper about 14-17 pages long. We will begin discussing these issues around mid-semester. Everything will be done in steps and I will provide regular feedback throughout the process. For instance, step 1 worth only a couple of percent will be a timely selection of a topic, for instance; step 2 worth a few more points will be annotated bibliography, etc. One step will be a 5-minute presentation to the class during the last two classes of the semester, which we will organize as a mini student conference. The final version of your paper is due at 9pm on April 10.

For the recurring three grading categories (prep, participation, reaction writing), I will drop the lowest score. No other academic accommodation will be available, such as late submissions or extended absences during the semester. For the final paper, late submissions will be penalized by 10% per day. Academic accommodation will only be considered for the final draft, not the stages prior.

SOC 4486 POLICIES

What if I have questions about the class?
First, check the syllabus. Most students find that the syllabus provides answers to many questions.
Second, contact your instructor via email. I strongly encourage you to email me as soon as questions or issues arise so we can work together to get your question answered or issue resolved. You can generally expect replies within 24 hours during regular work days or 48 on weekends. I will aim to answer faster than that.

- Please write “SOC 4486” in the subject line – otherwise it’s easy for your email to get lost in the slew of incoming messages. Seeing SOC 4486 in the subject line makes your email a priority for me.

What should I pay attention to when writing emails?
You rightfully expect that your instructors treat you with respect and in a professional manner. We expect the same from you. Please make sure your email communication is professional and tend toward a bit formal. Emails to your instructors are NOT like texting your friends. Please be professional and use proper salutation and correct spelling and grammar. For instance, your college instructors should be addressed “Professor XYZ” or “Dr. XYZ,” not “Hey there” or “Hi Jane” or “Dear Mrs. Green.”

What if I miss a class?
If you are absent from a class, two rules apply:

1) Do not email me. Unfortunately there is little I can do with the information explaining your absence. However, if there is something going on in your life that could affect your class performance in a significant way, please let me know we can work together.
2) Do get notes and all information from your classmates. You are responsible to keep up with the class. I will post key information on OWL but make sure you talk to your colleagues in advance (or afterwards) and ask them to take notes for you (or share their notes).

Do I need to attend classes?
Regular class attendance is essential to learning at the university level, especially in a course like this where substantial learning occurs in the process of class discussions. Attending classes AND doing all assigned readings is a necessary (though not sufficient) condition for earning a high grade in this class.

You are responsible for all announcements, lecture notes, and activities we cover in class even if you have a valid reason to miss a class. If you miss a class, please contact your classmates to get all information about what we did.

What’s expected of me in class?
Appropriate professional and respectful behavior is expected of all students, in order to facilitate a supportive learning environment. Any activities not related to the class material must be conducted outside of the classroom, including any social media or in-person communication. Cell phones must be on silent and no conversation or texting is acceptable. If your behavior does not abide by these basic rules, you may be asked to leave the class. Please understand I do not wish to use this policy but it is disruptive to other students if someone near them is online or texting.
What is the policy on electronics in class?
Laptops are permitted in class for note-taking although I strongly encourage you to take notes by hand. However, texting, browsing the web, or social networking on Instagram or Twitter or any of the myriad other apps is tremendously disruptive. Even if you feel you can follow the class while networking/browsing/texting, such behavior makes it difficult to those around you to pay attention. Students may be reprimanded, asked to shut off the device, or possibly even asked to leave the class. Please make sure that your cell phones are silent or turned off at the beginning of class; beeping and ringing distracts your colleagues and is disruptive in a classroom setting.

GENERAL UNIVERSITY-WIDE POLICIES

Note Regarding Plagiarism
Students must write their assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major scholastic offence (the Scholastic Offence Policy can be viewed in the Western Academic Calendar).

Plagiarism Checking:
All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (www.turnitin.com).

Policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness
Western’s policy on Accommodation for Medical Illness can be found at www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/accommodation_medical.pdf. Students must see the Academic Counsellor and submit all required documentation in order to be approved for certain accommodation:
http://counselling.ssc.uwo.ca/procedures/medical_accommodation.html

Accessibility Options:
Please contact the course instructor if you require material in an alternate format or if you require any other arrangements to make this course more accessible to you. You may also wish to contact Services for Students with Disabilities (SSD) at 519 661-2111 x 82147 for any specific question regarding an accommodation. Information regarding accommodation of exams is available on the Registrar’s website:
www.registrar.uwo.ca/examinations/accommodated_exams.html
Scholastic Offences
Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following web site: www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

Mental Health
Students who are in emotional/mental distress should refer to Mental Health @Western (http://uwo.ca/health/mental_wellbeing/index.html) for a complete list of options how to obtain help.

Please note: I reserve the right to make changes to the syllabus during the semester.
