Course Description: This course considers the sociological significance of drugs and drug use in society. The historical, political and cultural underpinnings of drug policies and drug use are examined, while highlighting the social implications of policies that approach drugs and drug use from moral rather than empirical positions.

Prerequisite(s): 1.0 from Sociology courses at the 1000 level.

Unless you have either the prerequisites or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in the course, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. The decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites.

Anti-requisite(s): The former Sociology 3313F/G

Course Objectives and Learning Outcomes:

Upon the completion of this course, students should:

1. Understand the sociological importance of drugs and drug use

2. Be able to critically examine the models of addiction that dominate public discourse

3. Appreciate the value of a biopsychosocial model of addiction

4. Learn to examine various forms of evidence-based knowledge and critically assess the sources

5. Be able to critically examine what makes policies and public education effective or ineffective

6. Apply evidence-based knowledge to educate the public about drugs and drug use

Course Material:
The following material is required and is available in e-versions on Brightspace:
WEEK 1 – Defining Substance Use

WEEK 2 – History of Canada’s Drug Laws

Student Absences:

If you are unable to meet a course requirement due to illness or other serious circumstances, please follow the procedures below.

Assessments worth less than 10% of the overall course grade:

For weekly reading reflections, no late submissions will be accepted under any circumstances.

Assessments worth 10% or more of the overall course grade:

For work totaling 10% or more of the final course grade, students must provide valid medical or supporting documentation to their Home Faculty Academic Counselling Office as soon as possible.

If a student misses the final exam with Academic Counselling Office’s approval, they will take a makeup exam.

Students with an approved absence from an in-class test or exam will be required to write a makeup exam. Course professor or teaching assistant(s) may not be available to respond to questions during the makeup exam. Students should be aware that the make-up test will not necessarily be in the same format, be of the same duration, or cover the same material as the original test.
